

It is my proud privilege as a parent to write a few lines about Maliba pharmacy college where my daughter pursued her graduate studies.

All faculties are extremely helpful. They guide and assist students both on academic and personal fronts so that they may be in a better position to encounter the onslaughts of life and come out victorious.

The continuous attendance monitoring of the students is a gleaming example of their dedication. Career guidance seminars and motivational sessions are a regular feature of this college. The infrastructure is amazing with quality classrooms, a well-equipped library, huge sports, and canteens.

I am heartily thankful for the encouragement, dedication, and patience displayed by the staff in handling my child and contributing to making her life worthy.
